Please don't trust AOL,s word !

Aol is the evil one not Microsoft.AOL destructive software has personally caused me $700.00 damage to my computer and software.

I loaded a game and later found that AOL's software loaded with it.When i tried tried to remove it corrupted my software and locked up my computer.Like a worm virus it interlocked in my programs,when i tried to remove it it ripped parts of my programs apart. My harddrive,memory,audio card,modem had to be replaced.I had to upgrade to the new operating system and scrap the old one all because of AOL.Two other people at work have had the exact same thing happen.

Microsoft provides an excellent product with extra features that help the customer.The computer tech told me to NEVER load anything with AOL on it.He said it innertwines itself like a virus into your computer.

I believe that the Government should sue AOL for all the damage they have done.I am out $700.00.
